Artemisia

Volume 49

Foreword

Believing that a yearbook should, insofar as possible, represent a year's activities of a university, the staff of the 1952 Artemisia has tried to reach that goal . . . If it were possible to give the students the sounds of the cheers after a basketball game or the odors of the picnics and dinners or the thrills that come with the first prom dance, the Artemisia would perhaps reach perfection in recalling college days for its students. But since all we have are words and pictures, we sincerely hope that they will help recall all the joys, dreams and ambitions that were a part of this last year.

Dedication

Jeanette C. Rhodes came to the University of Nevada in 1937 to take over one of the most responsible positions on the campus, that of Registrar. Since that time she has proven herself one of the most efficient and amiable administrators we have had. To Mrs. Rhodes falls the job of keeping all college records and grades of every student from the day they enter until the day they leave. Mrs. Rhodes believes that her most enjoyable contacts at the University have been with the students themselves. She is in a position to become well acquainted with most of them and one of the happiest parts of her work has been to see the student graduate after seeing them work for four years to obtain that goal . . . Mrs. Rhodes is a truly native Nevadan, having been born in Virginia City. She attended Virginia City schools and was graduated from high school there. In 1900 she entered the University of Nevada, "as a pretty green freshman," she will tell on herself. In 1904, four years later, she was graduated, but she always had a deep love for the University and always had a place for it in her heart. In 1912 she was elected to the campus Phi Kappa Phi and is presently a member of the Pi Beta Phi Alumni Association . . . This year will mark 15 years as Registrar for her and also mark her last year here at the University. It is with a deep regret that the students say goodbye to one who has given so much of her time and efforts to aid them, but their best wishes and thoughts go with her. And with these thoughts in mind, the 1952 Artemisia is dedicated to a "swell person."

THE UNIVERSITY OF NEVADA
BOARD OF CONTROL

Miss Elaine Mobley, Dean of Women, completed her fifth year at the University of Nevada this year. Counseling women students concerning their college work and looking after the hours and rules for all women students is her job besides deciding upon the regulations for social events and campus activities. Her cheering greeting of "Hello there" and friendly smile has won her the friendship of many students who look forward to seeing her again.

The Deans

Dr. Robert S. Griffin has served as Dean of Men for the University for seven and a half years. He is responsible for the veterans housing and supply problems as well as being responsible for academic and social welfare of all men students. He also has charge over the selective service system as it concerns the University. Besides these, he also supervises various fraternity functions.

Graduate Manager

Resuming his duties as Graduate Manager and ASUN Bookstore Manager is James McNabney. Through his office pass all the bills, checks and receipts of the Associated Students. All organizations using the Central Treasury system must account for their expenditures and have them cleared through this office . . . Reappointed to the job of secretary and bookkeeper for the Associated Students and Graduate Manager is Mrs. Erma Capurro Lawlor. Mrs. Lawlor has served faithfully in this capacity for the last six years—starting her services under Graduate Manager Joseph T. McDonnell, then Eugene Mastroianni and now under James McNabney. When the Finance Control Board made the recent change in the management for the ASUN Bookstore, Mrs. Lawlor was appointed as bookkeeper for the store along with her other duties. A true firends of the students—no one is turned away—for Mrs. Lawlor is always ready to assist anyone who seeks her help.

President Love's Message

As another school year draws to a close, it is appropriate that we think back over the months spent on the beautiful campus of the University of Nevada and take stock of our gains. You have learned much that is valuable from your books and your professors, and have made friends among faculty and students which will mean a great deal to you in the years to come. But the gain I want most for each of you is that you have grown—that your mind and personality have taken on a new and greater measure of maturity—that you have added something to your lives for which you will be eternally grateful. An education is just that—a chance to grow and to develop; and the best reason for choosing to be educated at a university is so that that development might take place under the most favorable circumstances, with the impetus of associating together, of sharing experiences, and of learning with other students—each contributing to the development of the others. These are the benefits that I hope you are taking with you; and I hope that your development will continue throughout your lifetime so that you will become ever bigger and bigger men and women as time goes on . . . It is my sincere wish that those who are graduating this June are taking with them the realization of having added to their stature during their undergraduate years and that their lives and the lives of those they touch will be richer because they did graduate from the University of Nevada.

Sincerely,

MALCOLM A. LOVE, President.

Registration

Although the beginning of selective service cut the enrollment of the University this year, it did not go as far as first expected. More than twelve hundred students enrolled as regular students as compared to thirteen hundred and eighty-seven for the previous year. Spring registration also saw only a very slight decrease in enrollment.

Alpha Epsilon Delta

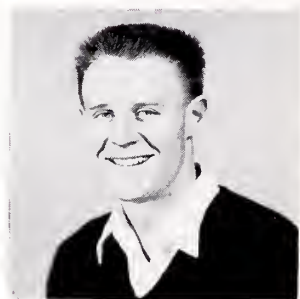

Alpha Epsilon Delta, honorary pre-medical fraternity, was founded at the University of Nevada in 1938. The group is composed of pre-medical students who meet regularly to discuss the various phases of their field and to promote scholarship. An average grade of B in two semesters is required for membership. Joe Bugica was this year's president.

Beta Beta Beta

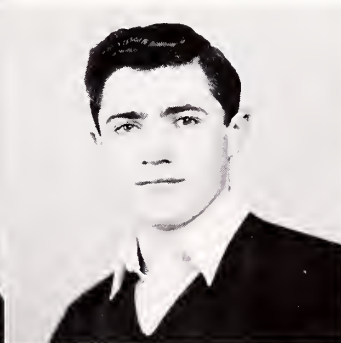

The Epsilon Theta chapter of the Tri-Beta is composed of scholastically eligible students having an active interest in any phase of the natural sciences. The organization was founded on the Nevada campus in 1948. Meetings are held twice a month, with one open to the public. At these meetings, lectures by prominent biologists and other scientists are heard.

Block "N"

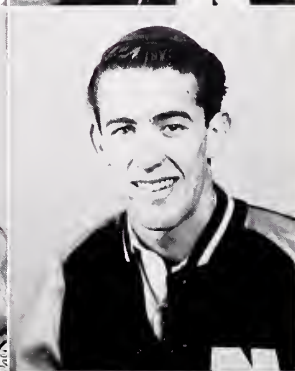

GILES ALTENBURG, President.

Block "N" honorary athletic society is composed of those men who have lettered in a major sport. Their main concern is the maintenance of high ideals governing sportsmanship and competition. During the year they helped supervise the painting of the "N", and also sponsored the Western Conference and State high school track meets. Block "N" officers were: Burt Larkins, president; Giles Altenburg, representative, and Al Matteucci, representative.

DAVID COLLINGS, President.

Blue Key

Blue Key is a national honorary service organization which offers membership to upperclassmen who have exhibited qualities of leadership and special interest in school affairs. The group started the fall semester with the annual Blue Key campus trek for freshmen, and then later sponsored the Blue Key Get-Together Dance at the old gym.

The group was headed by Dave Collings.

BARBARA CARRUTH, President.

Cap and Scroll

Cap and Scroll is the highest women's honorary organization on the campus. Its purpose is to develop high ideals for the women of the University of Nevada by combining the women leaders of the Senior Class in one organization. Members are selected each spring from the scholastic upper ten per cent of the Senior Class, who are the leaders in student life and organizations. To be eligible for membership the students are required to participate in at least three activities on the campus. Barbara Carruth was president of the group this year.

MONA PERRY, President.

Chi Delta Phi

Chi Delta Phi, a national English society for women, attempts to form a body of representative women who uphold the highest ideals of liberal education. Open meetings are held for all those interested in the study of literature. The sorority is for English majors and minors and Journalism majors and minors who have an over-all average of 2.7 or better.

Coffin and Keys

Tops among Nevada's honor societies is Coffin and Keys. Membership in this secret group signifies that a man has "arrived" in his particular field of campus activity. Its annual running, one of the highlights of the spring semester, is the only public appearance of the group, although the campus is never unaware of the influence of the group in student affairs. Heading the group this year were Ted Covington and Len Savage.

Saddle and Spurs

Saddle and Spurs is an honorary association for women interested in horseback riding. It is sponsored by the Women's Recreation Association. A campus club with no national affiliations, Saddle and Spurs has as its objective the promotion of good horsemanship. High standards are maintained by the careful election of accomplished riders to the group.

Press Club

University of Nevada Press Club is composed of students who have worked for two years on the campus publications and those students who have taken advance journalism. The club was headed this year by Mae Gregory, president, and Shirley Kershner, secretary. The group met several times during the year to hear speakers well known in journalism. Among guests of the club this year were Robert Bennyhoff and Eva Adams and several professional photographers for newspapers. The annual initiation breakfast for new members was held this spring. Also evaluating Nevada high school annuals and papers and awarding prizes to best publications was handled by the club.

ROBERT PETRINI, President.

The Nevada chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, had an especially active year. Ted Scripps, first semester prexy, attended the national convention in Detroit. There were numerous round-table banquets at which both professional and undergraduate members gathered to hear noted speakers. Highlight of the year was Senator Malone's "off the record" talk on governmental problems and affairs. James Hulse of Pioche won this year's annual scholarship award.

Highlight of the year for the group was the Big Bonanza celebration, at which time aspiring members were put through a rigorous initiation.

Y. W. C. A. Cabinet

The Y.W.C.A. campus chapter stresses world service. Its purpose is the maintenance of high standards in all student relations and mutual helpfulness and pleasure. During the year their largest activity was the sponsoring of the World Student Service Fund Carnival. The organization also held a picnic for graduating high school girls and held a Christmas party for the faculty's and veterans' children.

Instrumental in maintaining student contact with the large developments in the electric field, the American Institute of Electrical Engineers have been on the Nevada campus since 1922. For the first time this year, the national president of the organization, F. O. McMillan of Oregon, visited the campus. Monthly meetings are held with prominent members of the profession as lecturers.

Civil Engineers

The American Society of Civil Engineers conducted several instructional and sightseeing tours during the year to commercial firms on the West coast and around the State. Under advisorship of Professor H. B. Blodgett they held evening meetings and listened to numerous speakers concerning projects and professions in civil engineering. They won second place in exhibits during the Big Bonanza celebration.

Newman Club

Growing pains were suffered by the Newman Club during the 1951-1952 school year as the increase in membership forced the organization to transfer its meeting site to larger quarters. Organized primarily for Catholic students on campus, the club had by midyear grown to 70 members. The increase in members brought about more activities and gave the group second place in the competition for the prized Central Pacific Newman Club Achievement Trophy. A Christmas party for underprivileged children, two picnics and several other events highlighted the social calendar. The other two phases of Newman work—intellectual and religious—were carried out in discussion periods and by guest speakers. Twenty-five Newmanites from Nevada attended the annual province convention held in San Francisco. Bob Petrini served as president for the year. The Rev. Father Robert Anderson was the new chaplain for the club.

The Board of Athletic Control this year continued to handle the entire athletic program for the University of Nevada. It appropriates the athletic budget and continues to form the policy of the athletic department. Members of the board consist of two alumni, two students, two members of the faculty, one member of the Board of Regents, the Director of Athletics and the Graduate Manager. This year's chairman was Jim Bailey.

Basketball

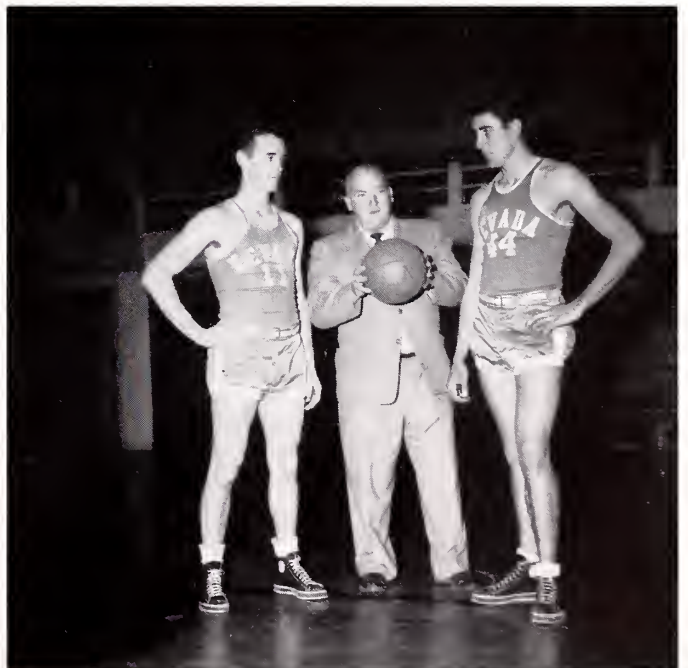

Coach Glenn (Jake) Lawlor

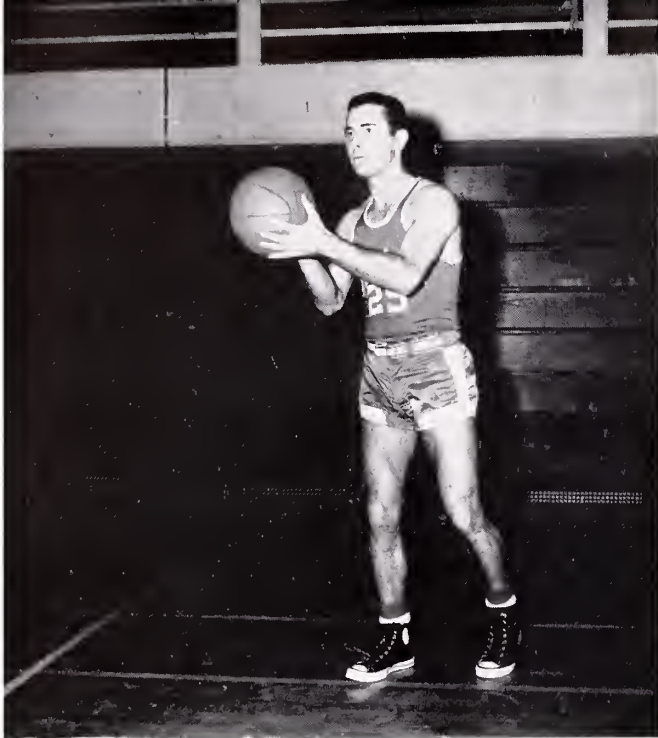

Glenn (Jake) Lawlor, head basketball coach at Nevada since 1942, proucded a team this year which won 19 games and dropped only three. Besides his duties as head coach, Jake was appointed as Director of Athletics this year. "Colorful" best describes him as he coaches his team during a close hot game. Hugh Smithwick served as freshman basketball coach this year and assisted Jake in other coaching activities.

The Wolf Pack basketballers opened the season against Chico State College at Chico with a display of fiery basketball which they retained for the remainder of the season. Nevada won the opening series 58-45 and 67-51. Back in Reno for the following weekend, the Pack took on barnstorming Arizona State, turning them back 77-63. Baxter, Larralde and Larkins led the Nevada attack. Sacramento State's "Hornets" next fell to the rampaging Pack in two games played on Nevada's home floor. Sharpshooting Mert Baxter poured in 25 points in the first game to offset McFayden's 14 for the losers. In the second game the Californians were leading in the final quarter, but Ed Hancock's timely shooting gave the game to Coach Lawlor's team. The scores of these games were 68-51 and 58-45.

Skyline Eight Conference, which prides itself on the records of such teams as Brigham Young University, Utah and Wyoming was represented on the Reno floor by Utah State, a fine team sparked by Bert Cook. It was tough competition for the undefeated Nevadans but a dramatic finish and 18 points by Mert Baxter gave the Wolf Pack a 60-51 victory. Without faltering in their winning ways, the Pack next tangled with the California Aggies and, in two games played at Davis, Calif., downed the farmers, 64-51 and 61-40.

John Borda, Forward

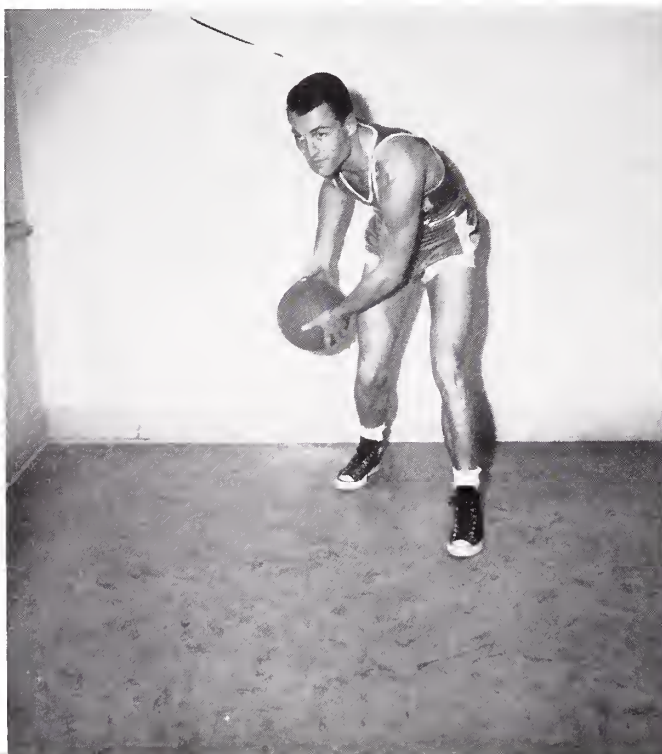

Doug Douglass, Guard

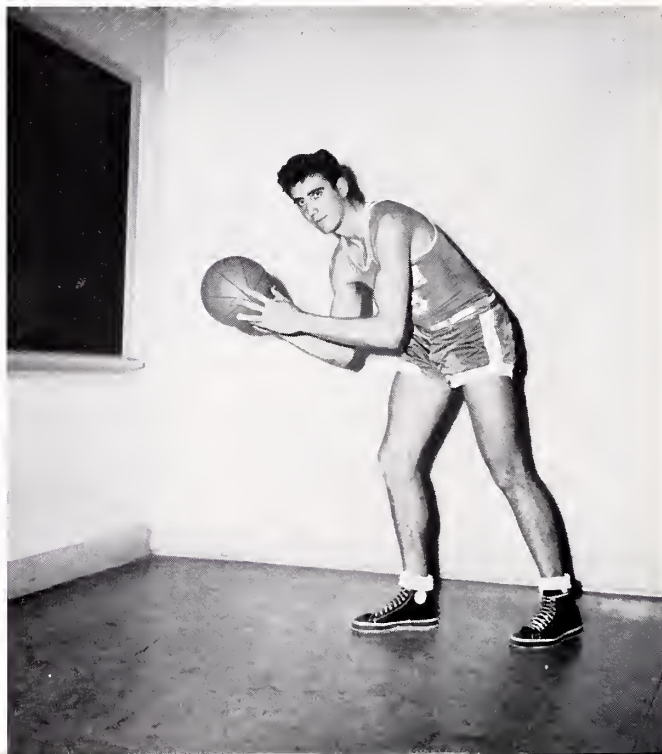

Southern California competition for the Pack came from California Polytechnic. In the first game, which was played in the local gym, the Wolves barely eked out a 52-50 victory but, nevertheless, their slate was as clean as ever. The second night they again hit their stride and walloped the invaders 74-52. The last weekend of the Christmas vacation found the still somewhat holiday-minded Pack playing a return engagement with Chico State on the home floor. Ed Hancock and Roy Larralde shared the scoring honors for Nevada during the series. Both games were won by the locals, 70-58 and 64-50.

Reggie Depaoli goes up in the air trying to sink one against Utah State. Nevada won the game, 52-50.

The next trip the Nevadans took was to Sacramento where they renewed rivalry with the Sacramento State "Hornets." The first game, played on a Friday night, the Pack had trouble getting started and it was 'way into the fourth period before Vidovich's long potshots took effect and the local team moved into the lead. When the hotly contested game was over, the Wolf Pack still hadn't been beaten, for the score read Nevada 65, Sacramento 57.

Smarting from three beatings at the hands of the Wolves, the Californians came back strong on Saturday night. Only a minute and a half remained to be played and the Pack was behind, but a final drive tied up the score. It was touch and go—then, just before the final gun sounded, Mert Baxter sank a foul shot given him when he was roughed-up going in for a layup. was another victory for Nevada, 54-53.

Heavy snows over the Sierra mountains caused the canceling of a series with Fresno State and the Pack was forced to take a two-week layoff. This may have been their undoing for, when they next went into action against C.O.P., they lost both nights. C.O.P. beat them 45-39 and 60-54. This brief setback did not affect the Nevadans against their next competitors, Y.M.I. from San Francisco. The Pack won these games, 53-39 and 58-44.

Highly-touted Portland University, with a record as potent as Nevada's met the Pack in two games on the local floor. Burt Larkins, Reggie DePaoli and Dan Vidovich hit with the same finesse they had shown earlier in the season and brought the first game out of the fire, 73-60. The second night, Portland wasn't to be turned back although the Pack pulled within two points as the final gun sounded, with the score Portland 67, Nevada 65. The windup of the season was played in Las Vegas against Arizona State Reggie DePaoli scored 28 points the first night to lead the Wolves over the Arizonians, 74-52, and the second night Baxter handled the scoring duties to give the Pack its final win, in the final game, 63 to 53.

Although heavy snows prevented Nevada from competing in the National Intercollegiate Championships at Baniff, Canada, the team was able to boast of a successful season. This year saw outstanding skiing by veterans Allan and Bob Ramsey, Pat Myers, and returning team mates Clinton Wooster, Roy Torvinen, Lou Mitchell and John Cowley. Newcomers Roy Bell, Bill Buckeley and Jack Rykken surprised all by boosting the team's strength in the jumping and cross-country events. A close second place at the Tressider Memorial meet started the season and was followed by a fourth place in the University of Nevada's own Winter Carnival, which attracted ten of the top teams in western competition. Ending the season at Donner Summit, the speed artists again captured the coveted Warren Vanderbilt Trophy by defeating California, Stanford, U. C. L. A. and C. O. P.

Track

One school record was broken and another tied during the 1952 track season as the University of Nevada team won three of their scheduled five meets. Marv Byars, track captain and senior student, cracked the quarter-mile record formerly held by Fred Walts against the College of Pacific and San Francisco State. Byars tied the 220-yard dash record in the last meet of the year against Cal Aggies and Sacramento State. In the first meet of the year against Chico State, on April 5, the Wolf Pack won, 92 to 39.

On April 18, the Nevada thinclads topped Sacramento State, 98 to 28.

In a three-way meet at San Francisco, Nevada placed third against College of Pacific and San Francisco State. At the College of Pacific Invitational Meet at Stockton, the Pack was completely outclassed. Although many of the Nevada men turned in their best marks of the year, they were no match for the potential Olympic material that participated. In the last meet of the year, Nevada won out over the vaunted Cal Aggies team and Sacramento State by gathering 74 points.

Boxing

Although in its first year as a major sport, boxing proved to be quite a drawing card for the Nevada fans. The season opened at Chico State where the Wolf Pack dropped 6½-3½. Following were matches with U.C.L.A. and San Jose State which were both lost, 5½-3½ and 8-2. Nevada got its first win in the second match with Chico, 4½-3½, and followed this with a win against San Francisco State, 4½-5½. They ended the season with a match against an experienced Idaho State team at Elko, where they lost, 6-2. Doug Byington was the leading boxer, with six wins, two by knockouts, and will be captain of the boxing team for the first match next year.

The weather man helped the Nevada team off to a late start. Only about five practices were held before taking on Cal Aggies at Davis, losing 6-3. The highlight of the season was the downing of the strong Sacramento J. C. team, a perennial winner in valley circuit, by a score of 5-4. The last doubles match, with Wooster and Mackay teaming up, turned the tide in the Wolf Pack favor. Returning to the courts the following Saturday at Reno, the strong Chico State six waxed the locals, 8-1. Jack Mackey, playing No. 2 position that day, was the only Pack player to win. After Easter vacation, Nevada met Sacramento State at Sacramento and won all matches. The next day the reverse was true against Chico State at Chico, the Wildcats taking all nine matches. On the home courts the Wolf Pack again hit the winning column against Sacramento State with an 8-1 win. The next day, in a tight match down to the last doubles, the J. C. got its revenge for the previous defeat, by the close score of 5-4. The last match of the season, against Cal Aggies, the Wolf Pack lost a heart-breaker to Cal Aggies, 5-4.

Golf Team

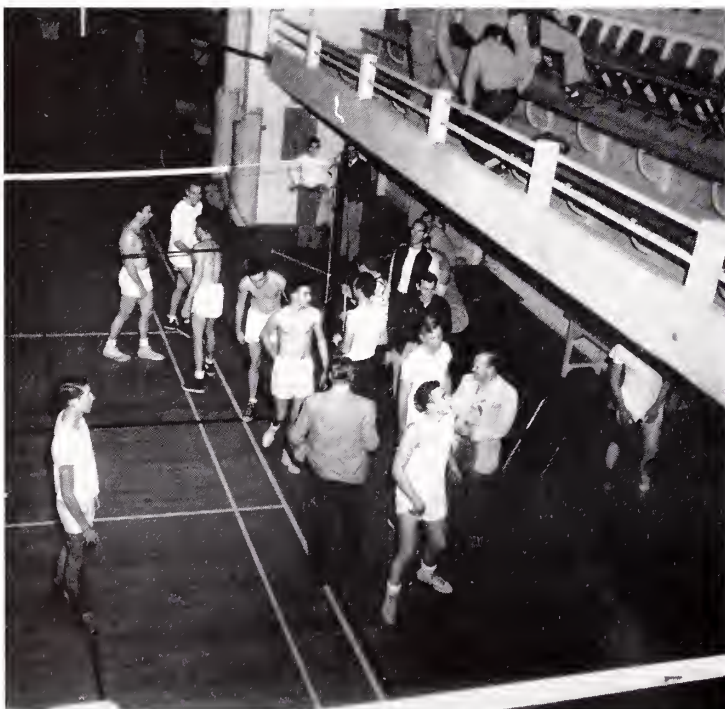

Six Matches: Nevada Lost 5 and Tied 1

Players: No. 1, Jim Boyle; No. 2, Don Petroni; No. 3, Jim Patterson; No. 4, Dick Nannini; No. 4, Gordon Surber. (No. 5 and 6 for two matches, Bill Pelter and Steve Bourn.)

In the overall picture of varsity golf for 1952 the Wolf Pack did not do very good from a win-and-loss standpoint. Several of the matches were fairly close from a standpoint of individual scores, and the team seemed to improve with every game. In their last match, against Cal Aggies, they emerged with a tie which could be looked on as a moral victory after five straight setbacks. Jim Boyle, playing No. 1, came up with a sharp 73 for the eighteen holes in that match. Weather, as with tennis, considerably handicapped the Wolves in getting started as well as slowed down practice throughout the month of April and part of May. Pete Marich, manager of the Washoe County course, was a great help as usual in helping to arrange the use of the course for practice and matches.

U. of N. Rifle Team

The Rifle Team this year saw only two matches in which they participated against other teams in person. The two matches were on in San Francisco against the University of San Francisco, which they lost, and one in Reno against the University of San Francisco and Utah State. The Nevada rifle men placed second in this meet. Throughout the year the team entered several matches by sending their scores and targets in to the other schools. Nevada managed to place sixth in the postal matches this year. These matches are sponsored by the regular army, and Nevada competed in the area covered by the Sixth Army command in addition, the team also held its annual turkey and ham meets.

University's 1951 Homecoming was one of the finest held for many years. Although the University was without its regular football team, a Homecoming game was held for grads and students alike when Jake Lawlor organized a team composed of Nevada students to play against former Nevada players. The annual affair got under way on a Thursday night with annual Phi Sig Street Dance, a little dampened by the weather, however. Friday night saw the Wolves Frolic held in the State Building. The Frolic this year featured 19 acts. The Lambda Chis walked off with the best skit honors.

Leona Hickey, Pi Phi, queen of the 1951 Homecoming celebration.

Saturday morning the traditional Homecoming parade was staged through downtown streets. The majority of the floats not only carried the theme of "Welcome Back, Grads," but also lamented over the fact that the University was without a football team. That afternoon the game between the University and the "Eleven Old Men" was held.

Lovely Leona is presented with her regal bouquet.

Homecoming dance is enjoyed by all who attended.

Cross-country races were held during the football game. The Homecoming dance was held at the State Building Saturday night as a grand finale to the three-day gala affair. Alumni dinner and dance was held earlier in the evening at Lawton's, where many of Nevada's former students met and talked over old times.

Coached by Bob McClure, the "Eleven Old Men" invaded the campus to play against the eleven students for the traditional Homecoming football game. The Wolf Pack elevens consisted mostly of students who had not played on the Nevada team before. Jerry Wyness, John Gonda, Neil Garrett, Ray Gonsalves, Myron Leavitt, Al Matteuci and Al Barham were among the team that had seen previous action at the University. The game ended in a scoreless tie.

Skiers from nine neighboring colleges converged on Reno to compete in the thirteenth annual University of Nevada Winter Carnival and Ski Meet. With the aid of Reno Ski Club, the three-day event was staged, accented by a colorful array of social activities, including the carnival assembly, sorority open house, the Skiers Banquet, and the climaxing Snowball. One hundred and seventy-five skiers and interested persons attended the Skiers Banquet held at the Trocadero. Among the guests were Governor and Mrs. Charles Russell, Mayor and Mrs. Francis Smith and Dr. and Mrs. Malcolm Love.

Carnival

Delta Delta Delta's ski-train theme won them the sorority interior decorations prize, with Sigma Alpha Epsilon winning the fraternity exterior decorations cup. The S.A.E.'s utilized a revolving ferris wheel, listing competing teams and carnival events. Judges for these decorations included artists and interior decoration designers from Reno. Winners' cups were presented the groups by Carnival Queen Brynhill Grassmoen. Queen "Bee" was chosen by the Nevada ski team to reign over the three-day event. She was a member of the 1948 women's Olympic ski team and attends Stanford University.

The University of Denver's skiers, 1951 intercollegiate champions, claimed first-place honors and made history by winning all four competitive events. University of Utah team placed second, Oregon third, and the host Nevada team placed fourth. Other competing teams, in order of their finishing, included Stanford, Portland, California, U.C.L.A., College of Pacific and Modesto Junior College. All of the events were held at Mt. Rose.

Twenty-five women skiers, including an eight-woman team from Utah, competed in women's slalom race, better known as the Powderpuff Derby. Brynhill Gros-moen, racing under Stanford's colors, won the event in record time, with Karin Lie, California's 1951 winner, placing second. Denver's coach, Willie Schaeffler, won the Alumni Downhill race, an event designed to offer competition to participating coaches and alumni of past Winter Carnivals. Nevada alums John Gianotti and Jack Parke placed fifth and ninth respectively.

Aggie Club Horse Show

Horse Show Queen Nancy West (Tri-Delt).

Professor Wilson Memorial Trophy, helped by show queen Nancy West and Reno Rodeo queen Myldred Cordes, being presented to Silver King owned by the Double Diamond Ranch of Reno.

The sixth annual University of Nevada Horse Show, held May 10-11, was described as a complete success by both exhibitors and spectators. Approximately 1,500 persons witnessed the Aggie-sponsored show. The event contained 23 events containing 130 entries, the largest entry list in the history of the show. The show was presided over by Nancy West who was presented with the title of "Queen" by President Love. Top honors in the show went to Don Dodge of Sacramento, California, who entered two horses, Poco Tivio and Snipper W. In connection with the regular show events, the Nevada Racing Association sponsored eight horse races, featuring the highly promising Nevada Futurity Race. The Futurity Race drew 18 nominations and was won by the Diamond Diamond Decorator of Double Diamond Ranch

Big Bonanza

Big Bonanza Queen Marilyn Humphreys, Kappa Alpha Theta.

Always interesting is the first part of the race in which fraternity men swim across Manzanita Lake.

The Big Bonanza was the name chosen for the annual spring celebration that previously was known as Mackay Day. Besides the change in name there were other changes this year. The three-day weekend showed special emphasis on different parts of the campus. Engineer's Day was incorporated into the celebration as was the Aggie Day farm and home parts. Traditional obstacle race for all the fraternities was held the morning of the first day.

These Seven Dwarfs and Snow White were the winning Theta song team.

Part of the large crowd at the Big Bonanza luncheon.

Benefactors' Day, the first day of the three-day event, consisted of the fraternity obstacle race, the beard check and the luncheon. Highlights of the luncheon were the fraternity and sorority song team competitions, Dr. Malcolm Love's farewell address, and tributes to the University's benefactors. Exhibits from all departments were opened to the students and public the next day. Most of the exhibits showed gifts received from their benefactors, others showed the work that goes on in their respective departments.

All College Exhibit Day, the second day of the Big Bonanza, featured the engineering contest. The contest featured competition in mucking, slide rule, drilling, and riveting. Most of the contests were won by mechanical engineers. Ranch and Home Day featured talks by various Aggie officials, exhibits by the Home Ec. women and the Aggie barbeque at the Valley Road Farm.

Successful Big Bonanza dance.

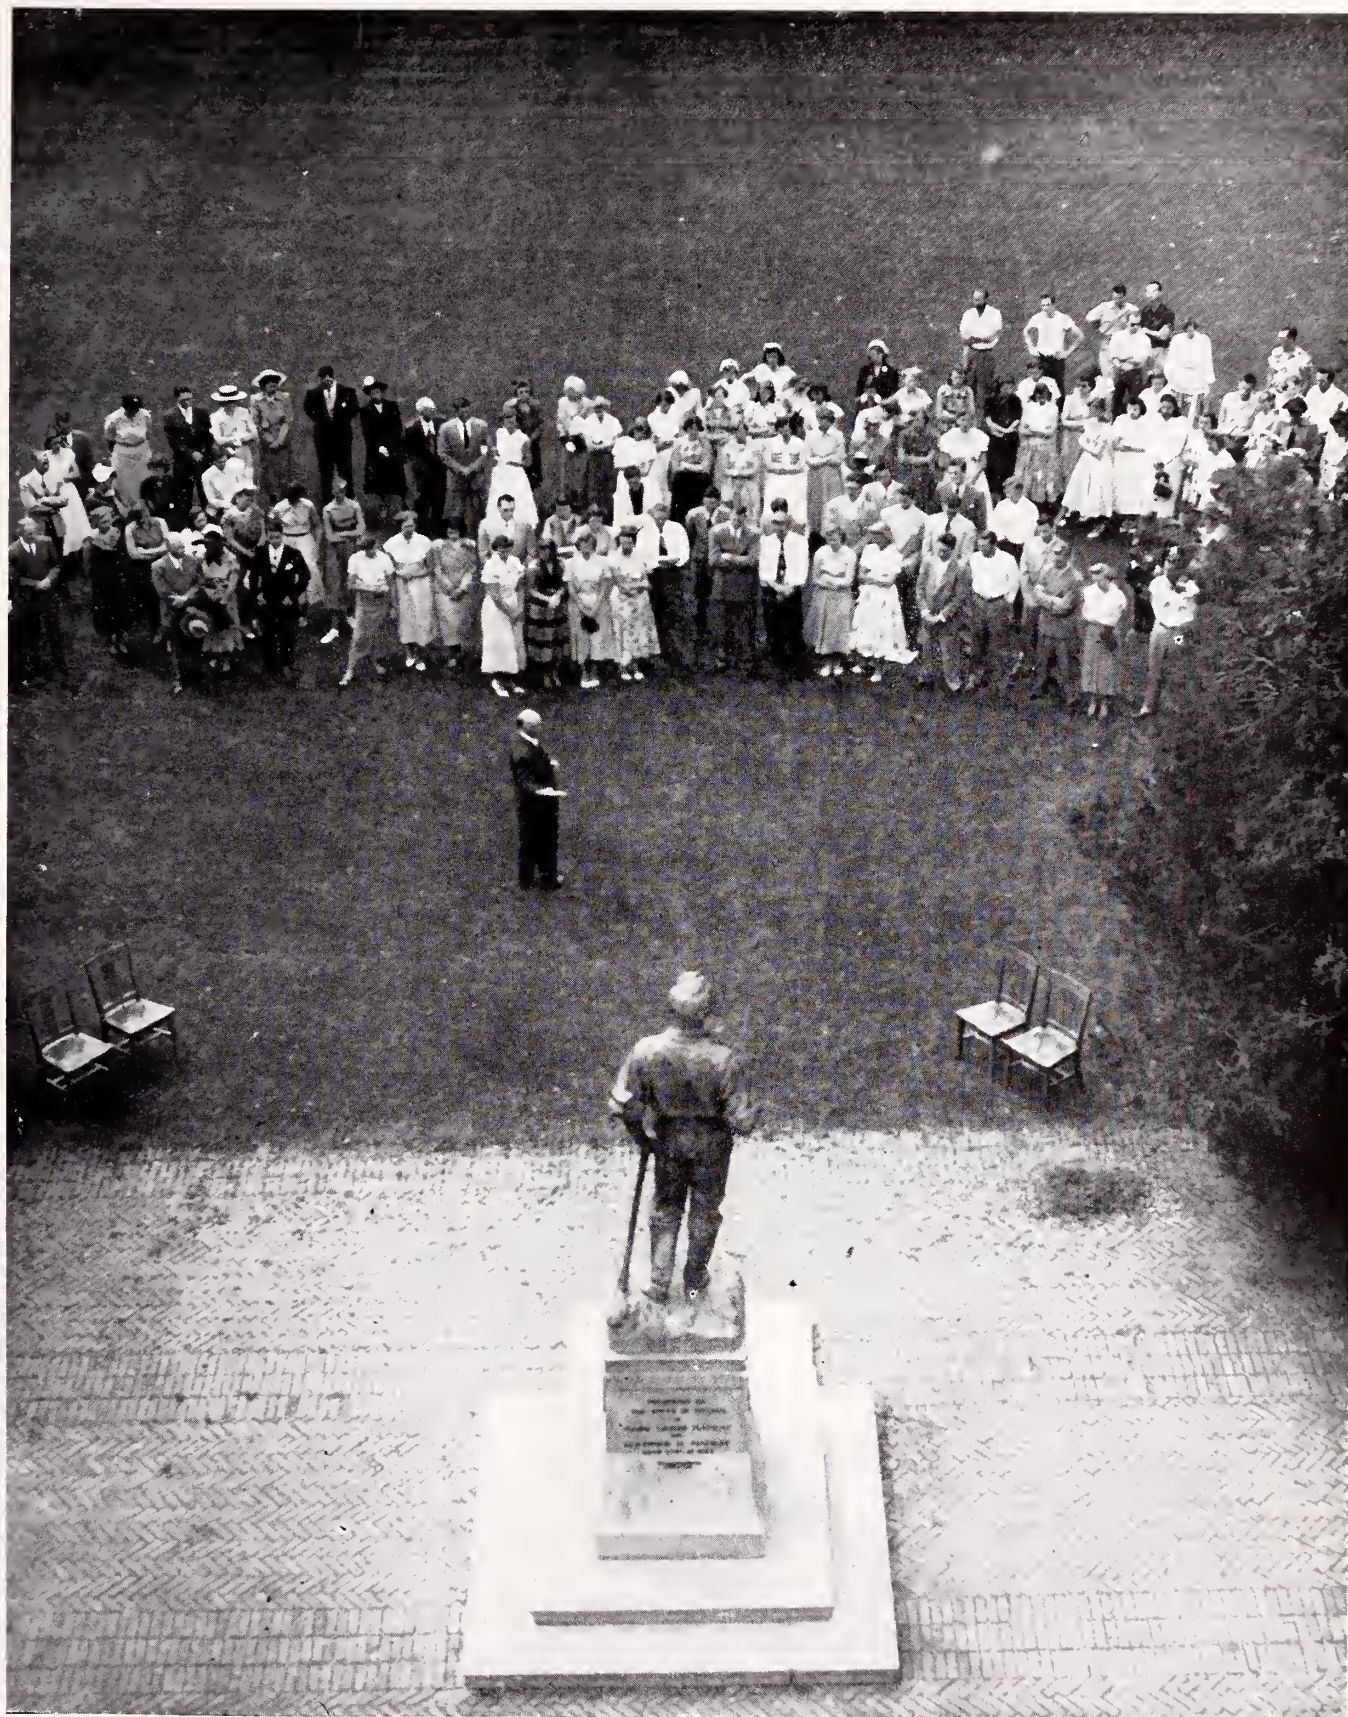

Open houses at the sororities and the Big Bonanza dance also helped to make the affair even more enjoyable. Sundowners continued their custom of initiating new members during the celebration. Many tramped down to the "Lil Wall" to get together and chat about the events. The Big Bonanza dance featured a top name band; and awards for songs teams, beard checks and costumes were made in the ne gym.

Mackay Day was held on Sunday with the Mackay Day benediction services held in front of John Mackay's statue. The Rev. Brewster Adams was the speaker as a special tribute was paid to the Mackay family who have given the University of Nevada over two million dollars.

Painting the "N"

While members of the upper-class committee looked on, the frosh slopped whitewash on the "N" on Peavine and on themselves. After the Frosh had finished their project they were treated to soft drinks and donuts.

One of the year's largest crowds showed up the W. S. S. F. carnival.

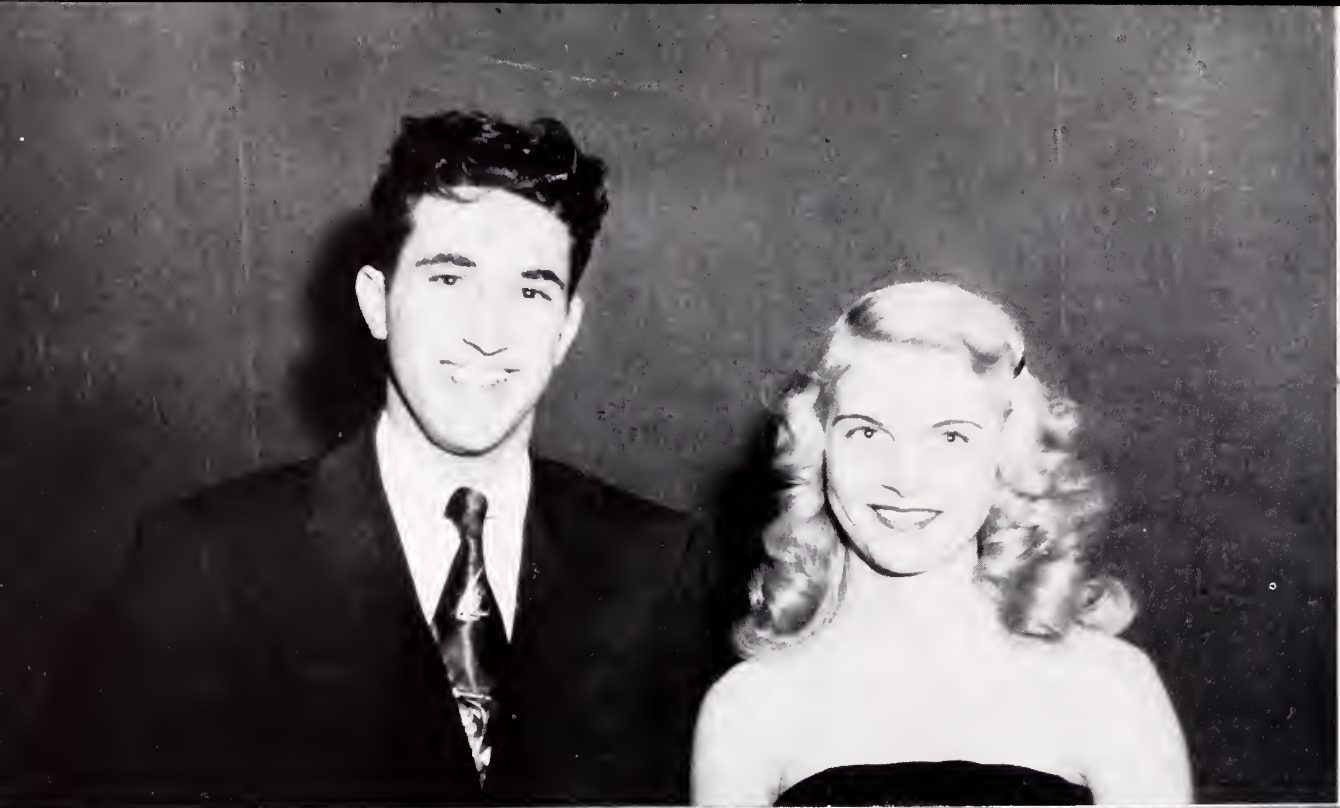

Galena Creek was scene of senior picnic.

Seems like other than members enjoyed the SAE barbeque.

Elko County, Nevada, is larger in area than the combined square mileage of Connecticut, Rhode Island, Delaware, Massachusetts, and the District of Columbia. The county's 17,059 square miles produce more beef cattle than any other comparable section. The area is famous for hunting and fishing. The mule deer, one of America's largest big game species, is exceptionally plentiful in the county.

Howdy Podner!

Seems like the time to wish you young folks godspeed or your educational journey comes oftener than it used to. Must be that life's speeding up and we're getting older. Certainly looks that way when you take a look at Las Vegas today and then remember what it was 10 years ago. Probably no place on earth has built up and gotten to be an established community in such a hurry. Nevada is still a land of opportunity—we're proving it every day. Keep this in mind as you plan your life ahead. Meanwhile, best wishes to the class of 1952. Hope we'll be seeing you around for a long time to come.
